Y. M. C. A. MATTERS.

What the Local Association Is Doing For the City's Young Men.

The Seventeenth Annual State Convention of the Young Men's Christian Asso-ciations of Kentucky will be held in this city February 17th-20th. The program has been pronounced by many Associa tion friends as the strongest ever ar ranged for a Kentucky convention. Some of the salient features of the convention are worthy of special mention. The first session Thursday afternoon will be largely devoted to a special spiritual ser-vice. The exercises are intended to be preparatory to the regular business sesion of the convention and to offer oppor sion of the convention and to discreption tunity for calm meditation, so difficult in the crowded hours of the convention ses-sions. Other phases of interest of the day sessions will be the reports of the As sociations during the past year and the session in the interests of the state work for the ensuing year. A special confer-ence of delegates from the Women's Com mittees of the Associations of the state will be held on Friday afternoon. At this conference the following topics will be discussed. "Women's Responsibility in the Conversion of the Young Men, by Miss Sue B. Scott, Lexington. "The Legitimate Work of the Leddies Committee" by Miss Ors V. Leight, Peducah: "Legitimate Work of the Leddies Committee" by Miss Ors V. Leight, Peducah: "The Missaire of Responsibility Which Rests Upon the Women of Our Cities and Towns to Maintsin the Associations" by Miss Mary Page of Frankfort. An interesting feature will be the welcome reception from the declaration of the Missaire of the Convention on Thirtday from 5-30, to 7 p. The evening sessions of the Convention will be of exceptional interest this year.

The Sunder was a secompanied by the following touching the the properties of the transfer of the Missaire Age of the M Women's Committee of the local Association to the Committee of the Orangeon of the Convention will be of exceptional interest this year.
